

Fordell Flyer

Community partnership creating confident connected life-long learners.

Tēnā koutou, nau mai, harere mai, namaste. What a great start to the winter sports season. We have 5 hockey teams, 3 netball teams and students playing rugby and football. As we approach this busy time with sport it is always good to remind ourselves about the code of conduct for both players and spectators. This placard (image on the right) is visible at most sports. Please take the time to read it and remember to support our children, the coaches (who are volunteers giving up their time) and especially the referees.

Pink Shirt Day - What a fantastic turn out of PINK on Friday

17 May - Pink Shirt Day. All students were able to talk about bullying. The definition of bullying is:

- It is deliberate
- Involves a misuse of power in a relationship
- It is repeated and targeted behaviour
- Can cause harm

This year's focus was about being an

'Upstander'. An Upstander uses words and actions to help the person who is being bullied. There are a range of actions that an Upstander can take. Our senior students created some powerful clips about being an Upstander and these were shared in assembly.

Fordell School at EPro8 Finals -

Congratulations to both our EPro8 teams. They both got through to the finals which were held in Palmerston North last week. It is a tough competition where students have to problem solve and work as a team to compete challenges. The Year 5 & 6 team finished 10th and the Year 7 & 8 team finished 5th. A big thank you to the parents and families for supporting the teams.

- Yvette Moorhouse, Principal. ☺

Hi! I'm the dream Giver and my name is Russell. I come out when the moon is full. I go through people's windows, I be really quiet so children and adults wont hear me. I creak magic eggs to give people good dreams. I go to country to country giving all the kids good dreams.

The Dream Giver

Hi I am the Dream Giver and my name is Jeff. I live in a castle. I come out when the moon is full and the sky is covered in twinkly stars. My wings flutter like butterfly's wings and are as clear a glass, they make no noise as I scale the rooftops of houses. I have a pointy nose like a mosquitoes that helps smell kids who need dreams. I have mad scientist goggles and very long legs, that look like a grass skipper. I have a net full of golden griffin eggs. The griffin eggs that I hold are very rare and they only hold good dreams. Griffins are very aggressive. Only a skilled fairy like me can get a decent batch. My job is to give kids and adults dreams using my griffin eggs. Without me there will be no dreams - only nightmares!!!

TACO BY JAGUS

The Dream Giver

I woke up in the night like I always do and get ready to go to work. That is to give children good dreams (well at least I try to).

My name is Craig, I've got mosquito like legs and very bald (like Mr Johnston). I am really small in fact small everything small goggles, small 10 pack and small feet. But the lucky thing is I make small noises and that means almost no noise and that's good because then the children can't hear me as I give them dreams.

I use my moth like wings to land on windowsills and I check if it's the right house with my notebook. I've got some little cream eggs that make dreams come to life on whatever I pour them on like books and shoes. So lets hope I give you good dreams and try not to make bad dreams.

MEAT AT YOUR PLACE OR MINE

Year 7 & 8s at Adrenalin Forest

Standing on the platform I take a moment and admire the view. Pine trees sway in the sea breeze as needles float down to the forest floor. I wipe my sweaty palms on my thighs while I think of all the bad things that could happen. What if the rope snaps? What if the clips fail or my harness comes loose? Trying to remove my thoughts, I take a deep breath and say, "You can do this!"

- Blake

The trees dance as the wind picks up. I look back, waves crash against the surface of the rocks.

I leap onto the slippery surface of the skateboard. Above the sky is a lovely shade of grey. As I look up the leaves flutter down to the forest bed. The skateboard comes to a halt.

I Sprint off onto the rickety wooden platform. The salty taste of sweat trickles down my lip and into my mouth.

Click, clack the sound of my clips pierce my ear canal. My heart beats at what feels like 7000km/h. The slight sea breeze brushes past my hair. The cold metal massages my face. Screams fill the air. The thought of my subway springs into my head.

I sit down in my harness and take the leap of faith. Sliding across the slender metal rope I look down at the tiny ants below. Boof! My body strikes the soft padding.

- Elijah

I put one shaking foot onto the rickety seesaw. Standing on the log I pause for a minute. I see huge pine trees towering above me. The smell of the salty sea and the pine needles mix together and give me a queasy tummy. I keep moving along the see saw looking down at a blanket of pine needles covering the ground as tiny ants wonder around. I creep over to the next log as I put one foot on to one end the other end comes flying up. Slowly moving along, I stand in the middle and balance.
